

CAMP CONFIDENT BRYAN WILL LOSE

Republican Leader Here Returns From Cincinnati Meeting Feeling Optimistic.

Henry M. Camp, who several weeks ago resigned his position in the Postoffice Department, in order that he could devote his time to campaign work for Taft and Sherman, has just returned from a trip through Ohio, where he met the leaders of his party. Mr. Camp is in charge of the interstate Republican headquarters in this city and was a delegate from the District of Columbia to the National League of Republican Clubs held in Cincinnati.

"I regard all the talk that Bryan will have a good chance to carry the Middle West, as merely political story telling," said Mr. Camp today. "In conversation with a number of business men represented in the delegations, I learned that there was a greater feeling of optimism than pessimism regarding Republican success in their States. Many reported that jobbers and business houses were placing large orders for the fall and winter trade, which indicates that they felt sure there would be a Republican victory in November."

REPUBLICANS OPEN QUARTERS TONIGHT

The District Republicans will formally open their headquarters tonight in the Citizens' Bank building, 615 Fifteenth street northwest. Secretary Straus, United States Treasurer Charles H. Treat, former Senator Marlon Butler of North Carolina, and other prominent Republicans will make speeches. Henry M. Camp, president of the League of Republican State Clubs, will open the meeting as temporary chairman.

The District Taft and Sherman Marching Club, 300 strong, will parade down Pennsylvania avenue from the headquarters to the newspaper offices before the meeting. The parade will be headed by the Williams Pipe and Drum Corps. Uniforms for the club arrived from Cincinnati Friday.

CLUB BONDS STOLEN BY TRUSTED EMPLOYEE

Fashionable Illinois Organization
Loses $4,000, But Recovers
Most of Plunder.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—On the charge of stealing $4,000 worth of Illinois Athletic bonds and $200 in money, and of passing several worthless checks, George Hill, assistant to Secretary George Lytton, of the club, was arrested last night and locked up.

When questioned, Hill made a partial confession and thirty-seven of the stolen bonds, worth $100 each, were recovered. Hill admitted also that he had passed several worthless checks.

Hill passed a worthless check for $20 drawn on the Hamilton National Bank early in the morning on Clarence Green, manager of the club, who also found by chance that Hill was taking money sent to the secretary of the club.

URGES OHIOANS TO VOTE.

L. W. Buckmaster, member of the Republican State executive committee of Ohio, is in Washington to urge Ohio Republicans employed in the executive departments to go home to vote. According to Mr. Buckmaster, there are in Washington 60 Ohio Republican voters, and their votes are needed to aid in saving the State for Taft.

"Taps" in Silent Arlington Last Tribute to Selfridge

Solemn Procession Follows Body of Lieutenant Killed by Wright Aeroplane to Last Resting Place
Across the Potomac.

A rattle of hard shod hoofs over the asphalt, seeming quite out of place in silent Arlington, and down over the gray road through the trim green archway of the trees, came a caisson, with boys in the army blue riding the horses that drew it and a corporal in command.

A sharp halt at the top of the little declivity, where the asphalt ends, and then down over the pebbly road to the receiving vault where this caisson came to carry the body of Lieut. Thomas E. Selfridge to the grave yesterday.

The little group of goldbraided officers, swords swinging at their sides, broke up quickly, the doors of the vault swung open under the touch of Superintendent Magoon, and as the Thirtieth Cavalry Band played a dirge, the coffin was brought out into the soft September haze, borne by men of the Signal Corps, the corps that Lieutenant Selfridge served.

Flowers in Profusion.

Slowly and carefully they lifted it up on the caisson. Then came the placing of scores of wreaths of flowers. The Stars and Stripes draped over the caisson started out above all the mass of white and purple and red, as if conscious that this was the last time it could honor the silent body beneath.

The caisson with its black, well-groomed horses, the sober minister in his white vestments, started briskly but quietly up the pebbly road again, the soldier boys took their seats once more, and the caisson rolled up the road out onto the asphalt, while the band marching on foot in front of the minister's carriage struck into the wonderful Chopin Funeral March.

The procession, to the music of that march, went out from the older portion of the cemetery with its shady roads into the sunlit open, where there are but few graves, and then up to the little knoll which faces the river, the city, and the sunrise.

WOMAN IS ACCUSED OF CHILD'S MURDER

WALTHAM, Mass., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Ruth H. Silsby, wife of Eben Silsby, a brakeman employed by the Boston and Maine railroad, was arrested here yesterday and brought into the district court on a charge of murdering Clinton E. Childs, who was shot in the town of Waverly, and who died later in a hospital in Boston.

Childs refused to say who had shot him, declaring up to the time of his death that it was an accident. According to the police Mrs. Silsby is alleged to have shot Childs because of his reported unfaithfulness to her. Mrs. Silsby's seventeen-year-old daughter Margaret.

Service Is Read.

The minister, the Rev. Herbert S. Smith, rector of St. Margaret's Church, recited the Episcopal burial service, and then the Signal Corps men lowered the body.

The squad of men armed with rifles fired three volleys; the bugler raised his instrument to his lips and sounded "taps," the soldiers' farewell. As the music rose and fell and quivered through the still evening air, the little crowd turned away to leave the father, the mother, and the brothers of the dead officer to their grief. The mother took one flower from all the mass of color that was piled there.

The honorary pallbearers were Major George C. Smith, Lieut. R. B. Crosey, U. S. M. C.; Lieut. G. C. Sweet, U. S. N.; Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, Octave Chanute, Percy Bradford, William J. Hammer, Prof. Monroe Hopkins, F. W. Baldwin, J. A. D. McCurdy. The French military attaché, Major Fournier, an eager follower of all of Mr. Wright's flights, was present, as was Col. Baron de Bode, the Russian attaché, and Major Kunikida Tanaka, the Japanese attaché.

Miss Katherine Wright, sister of the aviator, was followed by the cortege from the vault to the grave.

President Roosevelt sent a wreath of dahlias and roses, as did Secretary of War Luke E. Wright. Among others who remembered the young officer in similar fashion were:

The Aero Club of New York, the West Point army mess, the aeronautical board of the Signal Corps, the Signal Corps officers at Fort Leavenworth, the Aeronautical Association of the United States, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Graham Bell, Captain and Mrs. Perry, Prof. Fairchild, Lieutenant Colonel Gooderham, George S. Selfridge, George Fancull, C. H. Claudy, Orville Wright, G. H. Grosvenor, William McK. Woodworth, and Dr. William J. Hammer.

He will be assisted by Surgeon General E. B. Talcott, John Davidson, E. F. Looker, Frank Upman, A. K. Farris, A. B. Grunwell, and W. Wiley Stern. Members of the house and greens committees.

FORBIDS COMPANY USE OF THE MAIL

The Postoffice Department has issued a fraud order against the W. H. Maby Advertising Company, at Stratford and Bridgeport, Conn. It is stated that this company advertised for female help to address envelopes, requiring that a remittance of 15 cents be made to obtain full particulars.

The officers of the company were unable to show the inspector that any employment had been granted, notwithstanding the great volume of mail matter containing remittances that had been received, and the fraud order was, therefore, ordered to protect the interests of the public.

Julius Oppenheimer, doing business at 165 East Ninety-fifth and 56 Canal street, New York city, who was arrested recently, was charged with conducting a lottery business, has been denied the use of the mails. At the time of the arrest, no information had been received that Oppenheimer was using the mails for his illegal purposes, but later it was ascertained that this was the fact, and the fraud order issued to prevent him from resuming his operations should he escape the clutches of the law.

SHAH TAKES STEPS TO CHECK REVOLT

Persian Ruler Calls Parliament,
With View of Making Concessions to Nationalists.

TEHERAN, Sept. 25.—In the hope of checking the revolutionary wave that is sweeping Persia, the Shah has ordered a new election and called for the convening of the assembly and senate on November 14.

The coming parliament promises to be the most important ever convened in Persia. Reforms will be of the most sweeping effect, chief of which will be an attempt to placate the Nationalists by offering them a greater share in the government's affairs.

If the present campaign against the Nationalists in Tabriz is successful there is little doubt that the parliament will meet according to program. If, however, the Nationalists succeed in overthrowing Ali-Ed-Dowleh, there is danger of the entire country being thrown into revolution and Shah Ali Mirza deposed.

The PHTHISIS CONGRESS Teaches

It's work is wholly instructive. Unless you—every individual you—follow daily the scientific teachings as to how to live and how to have prepared that which sustains life; the work of this great International Congress on Tuberculosis, now assembled in Washington, will have failed its purpose. You owe it to yourself to visit the Exhibit of the Phthisis Congress and learn the examples of cleanliness and purity set before you. You owe it to your health to visit the home of "THE VELVET KIND" and see how these principles of cleanliness and purity are carried out in the process of manufacturing frozen cream products by

Pasteurizing and Sterilizing

"The Velvet Kind"

Is the ONLY ICE CREAM Manufactured within the District by a Scientific and Sanitary Process

Chapin-Sacks Shipping Room

Showing the Immaculate Cleanliness of "THE VELVET KIND" Process
Even to the Shipping Stage

PURITY is attained in the manufacture of "THE VELVET KIND" by Pasteurization. That modern process which eliminates every possibility of disease germs from the cream. CLEANLINESS maintains the absolute purity thus attained by our scientific process of sterilizing every pipe and receptacle through which the cream passes from its original state to the healthful frozen product, with whose superior qualities the greater proportion of Washingtonians are so familiar.

Buildings with exteriors of enameled brick and concrete floors, housing machinery run by individual motors (eliminating germ infested cogs and belts), are further precautions that insure healthful purity.

The CHAPIN-SACKS MFG. CO. will deem it a pleasure to have you call and inspect the model home of "THE VELVET KIND."
